

The Challenge

In the next couple of years, two challenges lay before us:

- Short-term debt reduction.
- Completion of the building.

From the very beginning, God has placed us in a privileged position—as a nation, as a community, and as a church. He has consistently led this fellowship with a design and plan for reaching the lost and the hurting. Along with that call, God has also gifted our church body with enormous talents and resources to be used to touch the lives of others for Christ.

It has been God's good pleasure to equip us with enormous bounty to move forward in His name, but to whom much is given, much is also required. God's blessings have been great, but with those blessings come responsibility. As a body we have made phenomenal strides toward setting into motion the plans that God has purposed for this fellowship. But the work is not yet complete. In order to finish the Lord's objectives, we must come together again in unity and in purpose—His Vision to Fulfill.
